One* by Kathryn Otoshi (October)

This book uses colors and numbers to teach a lesson on bullying. Whenever they meet, Blue is picked on by Red. The other colors like Blue are intimidated by the Red's behavior, so they say nothing and soon Red is bossing everyone around. Then, One stands up to Red. Inspired by One, all the other colors stand up to Red and become numbers. The rest of the numbers stick up for Blue, but offer Red the opportunity to join in. Red is not ostracized but included in the game, and the essential point of one person making a difference is emphasized.

Champion Year

The following books are used by schools in the third year of the ABC program.

Friends to the End for Kids* by Bradley Trevor Greive (September)

Watching children befriend one another teaches us a great lesson. They quickly step outside of themselves, give one another a chance, invest everything in the moment, and trade hugs at the earliest possible opportunity. Such is the stuff of true friendship. This combination of captivating animal photography and direct, eloquent words reinforce with gentle humor what kids already know in their hearts: that friendship is about love, loyalty, and—most of all—fun.
